I Introduction to The Humsafar Trust and its programs:

The Humsafar Trust (HST) is a male sexual health agency registered in the April 1994 as a community-based organization by self-identified homosexual men with the mission to strive for the human rights of sexual minorities and for the provision of quality health services to MSM, MSWs and tritiya panthi (hijras).

The organisation commenced its community work in 1990 with free distribution of condoms at two of the key MSM sex sites in Mumbai and launch of Bombay Dost, India’s first and only gay magazine to collectivize self identified gay men and MSM. Through a grant from the directorate of health services the organisation conducted a premier mapping study that identified 77 sites in Mumbai where Men who have sex with men (MSM) met regularly either to seek partners or socialize and exchange information. This formed the basis of the organizational premier intervention pilot titled ‘Motivate Safer Sex among MSM at Selected Sites in Mumbai Metro’, this initiative was supported by the Mumbai District AIDS Control Society (MDACS) in April 1999 and was country’s first MSM project in the country supported by the National AIDS Control Society (NACO). The reach of this project was scaled up by USAID/ FHI under its IMPACT project and at the end of December 2008 HST implements seven holistic intervention projects providing prevention, care, support and treatment services and reaching out to 13,000 new and 64,000 regular MSM, MSWs and Hijras every year. The program funding is supported by NACO-MDACS, USAID-AVERT Society, EU-HIVOS, BMGF supported Aastha project.

HST is the convener of the Integrated Network for Sexual Minorities, India (INFOSEM) which is an umbrella of all Community Based Organizations working with Sexual Minorities on the issue of Health and Human Rights.

HST has created a model of intervention, care and support and treatment that can be easily replicated HST HR Policy of the organization provides a minimum of 20% job opportunities or HIV positive MSM and Hijras. HST also has a strategic plan and business plan in place. HST also has well established financial management and auditing systems in place.

HST was documented as Best Practices Model by UNICEF in 2003 and has become the first community based organization to set up its own IRB (Institutional Review Board), an ethic review committee that has been registered with NIH and awarded the Federal Wide Acceptance (FWA) certificate in year 2004. HST also has a Community Advisory Board (CAB) to provide inputs, monitor and validate the findings of various studies and interventions. All research projects of The Humsafar Trust are conducted only after they have sought the approval of the IRB.

The Start Up of Program

In 1998 the Humsafar Trust (HST) had its first grant from the Directorate of Health Services in Mumbai to do a sex mapping study in Mumbai. The small grant of Rs.57,000/- was utilized to mobilize community members from all over the city and sex mapping of over 100 sites was completed in less than six months.

In January 1999, the HST started its sensitization program with various public hospitals in Mumbai. The first positive results came when Dr. Hema Jerajani of Lokmanya Tilak Memorial General Hospital (LTMGH) agreed to examine MSM clients in their hospital OPD. She also sent her resident doctors to HST to get them sensitized on MSM issues. The doctors from LTMGH began their friendly visits to the HST centre and very soon it was agreed that HST would set up its own in-house VCCTC.
A lot of support garnered from various quarters and with unflinching support of LTMG hospital, MDACS and Mumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) helped start the VCCTC on 26th June 1999. The Humsafar Trust is now managing over 2,500 MSM and TGs accessing quality services every year from its clinic. The clinic has been described as a model clinic following all international norms of quality services by FHI.

Mumbai District Aids Control Society (MDACS) awarded the first pilot project title ‘Motivate Safer Sex among MSM at Selected Sites in Mumbai Metro’ in April 1999 over a three-year period. (Project Aarambh 1 is now in its 11th year).

The Mumbai District Aids Control Society (MDACS) increased the scope of the project in April 2000 to reach out to MSM at selected sites (Project Aarambh 2 is now in its 10th year).

However, as the numbers of sites kept increasing over a period of time, it was considered essential that HST upscale the project and seek financial aid from other sources too. In February 2001, USAID / FHI under its Impact program up scaled the project for a period of 18 months. (Project Yaarana now its 9th year)

In April 2002 MDACS initiated a project with TG / Kothi sex workers around five truck stops in Mumbai. (Project Shaan is currently in its 8th year of intervention.)

In April 2005, The Avert Society with funding from USAID started a MSM project with The Humsafar Trust in the Thane region of Maharashtra state (Project Josh now in its 5th year)

In June 2005, FHI and FPAI collaboration with funding from Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation set up a project with male sex workers on 18 hotspots in Mumbai. (Project Gaurav now in its 5th year).

In January 2006, The Humsafar Trust along with Department for International Development (DFID) – Project Management Office (PMO) had a Community and Advocacy Support Program (CASP) with a goal to reduce the HIV prevalence and to improve the sexual health of men who have sex with men (MSM) and Hijras (male-to-female transgender persons) in India by enhancing the contribution of community organizations towards the national responses to HIV epidemic.

In January 2006, The Humsafar Trust along with Department for International Development (DFID) – Project Management Office (PMO) received a Research and Learning Fund (RALF) had a goal to build an evidence base to inform designing and implementation of effective HIV prevention interventions for MSM & Hijras in India.

In May 2007, Produced feature film “68 Pages” documenting experiences of a counsellor working with marginalised communities which was supported by Department for International Development (DFID)

In July 2008, Produced “Bridges of Hope” a documentary documenting voices and concerns of MSM and TG community and supported by UNAIDS

In November 2008 : A regional level advocacy project in collaboration with SIDA – RFSU and 14 partners from India, Bangla Desh, Nepal and Sri Lanka to increase rights and health based issues of LGBT community

A consultation that brought together the LGBT community in India at a national level comprising of over 100 LGBT activists met in Mumbai in October 2009 to discuss strategies on how to take forward the Delhi High Court Judgment on Section 377 and influence various sections of society and engage them in a dialogue on LGBT rights was supported by SIDA - RFSU.

A research project was initiated in 2009 to look into HPV prevalence among MSM supported by NIH in collaboration with UCSF, “HPV Infection in Indian HIV Sero-Positive Men who have sex with Men”.
